As we all know, WAGO is a unique organization, and for many of us WAGO is our favorite meeting of the year. WAGO is an organization that has always welcomed all disciplines, and our meetings have great science, excellent discussions, constructive feedback for trainees, and most important, are a lot of fun.

This year has brought changes to the management of our organization. As of January 1, 2011, ACOG was no longer able to provide management services for WAGO. The WAGO Executive Committee met with SGO administration and physician leadership, and we are currently negotiating a contract for SGO to take over WAGO management. As we discussed at our last business meeting, we feel that aligning with SGO but maintaining our own identity and independence will allow us to preserve the "WAGO culture" and is the best way to move forward, especially as funding sources for meetings are becoming more difficult to secure. We are very excited that Mary Eiken and her excellent team will be working with us to remain a financially viable and autonomous organization. In addition, the SGO team will be managing our annual meeting.

It has been an honor to serve as the WAGO President this year. I am very excited about our upcoming meeting in Park City, Utah and am confident we will have another outstanding academic and social program. Dr. Scott McMeekin is serving as Program Chair and he and his committee are working hard to create another great meeting. Trainees and guests are always welcome, so please invite colleagues and any fellows, residents, or students interested in gynecologic oncology to come to the meeting.

2011 ANNUAL MEETING: SCOTT MCMEEKIN, MD 2010 PROGRAM CHAIR

2011 Program CommitteeScott McMeekin, MD, ChairJohn Chan, MDLevi Downs, MDRandall Gibb, MDLisa Landrum, MDKathy McGonigle, MDChristine Walsh, MDAndrew (Pat) Soisson, MD*

The 40th Annual Meeting of the Western Association of Gynecologic Oncologists, to be held June 16th to 18th in Park City, Utah, is shaping up to be another great scientific and social event in keeping with the history of our organization. The meeting venue at the Stein Ericksen Lodge, and the easy access to multiple recreational opportunities, promises a continuation of our tradition of combining stimulating science and fun with family and friends. I would like to start by thanking the members of the 2011 Program Committee for agreeing to serve and for the time commitment involved. Barbara and I are very excited about the developing program. The meeting will include oral presentations, posters, an ASCO update, and a keynote speaker. In addition, we are going to continue the tradition of the Fellow's Tumor Board which will be moderated by Dr. Randy Gibb.

This is a very important year in the history of WAGO. The transition of management services from ACOG to SGO, substantial reductions in industry support, and a tight timeline given this transition make this a year that we can all help WAGO move toward new directions. We would like to encourage all members to not only attend this meeting but to also encourage attendance and involvement by residents, fellows, and colleagues in all fields with an interest in gynecologic cancers. We hope to see you in Park City!

WAGO ABSTRACT AND REGISTRATION DEADLINES

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION:

The deadline to submit abstracts for the Annual Meeting is Friday, March 25, 2011. You may submit your abstract electronically to the WAGO office by downloading the abstract form from the WAGO website www.wagogynonc.org and sending the completed form to the office as an email attachment to the following email address: wagogynoncmeetings@wagogynonc.org. Instructions for submitting your abstract electronically are included with the form on the website. You will receive confirmation from the WAGO office that your abstract has been received, and further notice if your abstract has been selected for presentation.

MEETING REGISTRATION:

The meeting registration form is available on the WAGO website www.wagogynonc.org. Once you have completed the meeting registration form, please return it to the WAGO national office with the appropriate fees. Please note the discount for registrations received before the deadline. We will continue the special reduced fee for individuals currently enrolled in a Board-approved residency or fellowship program, provided a letter from the program director confirming such status is included with their registration. In keeping with previous meetings, everyone attending any of the social or scientific functions, including those attending to deliver their scientific presentations, must pay a registration fee. All registered guests and family members are welcome to the meals and functions.

2010 SANTA BARBARA ANNUAL MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

The 2010 meeting of WAGO, at which there were 83 meeting registrants, was held at Fess Parker's DoubleTree Resort in Santa Barbara, California from June 9-12. The scientific program committee was chaired by Dr. Barbara Goff and featured 38 outstanding oral presentations and 25 poster presentations. Guest speakers included Dr. Brad Monk who presented "Highlights of the 2010 ASCO Meeting: Emerging Therapies in Gynecologic Cancers" and Dr. Wui-Jin Koh who discussed "Advances in Radiation Oncology for Gynecologic Malignancies". As usual, fellow and resident participation was excellent and was further enhanced by the Fellows/Residents/Guests Tumor Board & Luncheon moderated by Dr. Howard Muntz. The Friday evening reception and dinner was enjoyed by all, and featured the WAGO Presidential Guest Lecturer, Karen Carlson, Executive Director of the Gynecologic Cancer Foundation who spoke about Development for Gynecologic Oncologists. Many of the participants enjoyed a fabulous wine tasting tour on Thursday afternoon and most could be seen enjoying the Santa Barbara scenery, shopping, restaurants, and other leisure activities. As we have come to expect, WAGO once again provided an outstanding educational opportunity with particular emphasis on providing a collegial and supportive forum for our trainees to present their work. The program committee should be congratulated.
